Eau de Cologne. This very superior and refreshing Perfume, put up in wicker This very superior and refreshing Perfume, put up in wicker covered bottles of haif a pint each, is in every respect superior to the finest German Cologae, and infinitely better than nine tenths of the ordinary qualities monufactured at Cologae by rival houses, with whom the purity, strength and quality of the article is less regarded than lowness of price. As a perfume for the Handkerchief, its peculiar fragrance and penetrating odor—so delightfully refreshing in hot climates, and grateful to the invalid in a sick room—are universally acknowledged. Its astringent properties render it most valuable for the Teeth and Gums.

LAVENDER WATER-Large and small bottles-The best ever imported.

The Ambrosial Shaving Cream is of a white pearly appearance, and produces a rich creamy lather which will not dry on the face—this complaint against almost every Shaving Soap hitherto introduced being entirely obviated.

Cherry Tooth Paste.

Acknowledged by all who have made trian of its superior cleansing and preservative properties to be beyond comparison the best preparation for the Tueth. Tooth Brushes.

Of superior quality, very convenient in form, and most service-able in use; these Tooth Brushes cleanse the Teeth thoroughly without injury to the gums, are made of the best materials on really scientific principles, and warranted to purchasers. CHERRY TOOTH POWDER, For beautifying and preserving the Teeth, and imparting a pearly whiteness hitherto unattamable.

Instantaneous Hair Dve.

The only Dye that will not stain the skin. Gosnell's Patent Trichosaron.

The only perfect Hair Brush, pre-eminently excelling all others, and combining those desiderata which render it the most perfect of its kind. Although possessing in use an almost incredible cleansing power, yet it does not produce the slightest irritation of the skin of the head, which so frequently creates dandurff and even premature buildness. Its peculiar mechanical construction accomplishes the two operations of cleansing and polishing simultaneously, thus leaving the hair beautifully soft and glossy, unstrainable by other means. To meet the requirements of all, they are made of six different degrees of quality, warying from very hard to very soft.

varying from very hard to very soft Golden Oil. FOR THE HAIR,

Decidedly the most efficious preparation for improving the appearance of the Hair which has hitherto been submitted to approval. It promotes the growth, gives softness and beauty to its texture, removes dandruff and prevents premature baldness. Ladies are strongly recommended to make trial of its admirable restorative qualities, which have been attested by persons of the highest respectability. In numerous cases where the hair had falien off from iliness, change of climate or debility of the system, the continued use of John Gosneli & Co.'s Golden Oil has been found a certain remedy for the production of Hair, and also Moustaches and Beard.

The Golden Oil is Unequalled for Children's Hair; It is both stimulating and nutritive, and greatly admired for its delicate and fragrant perfume.

Insult to Injury.

In our article, published last week, on the appointment of Mr. H. A. Widemann to the Supreme Court Bench, we said : "So far as the Bar is concerned it has received an open sult and challenge, which it may or may not take action on. Had the gentlemen composing it seen fit to have turned their backs upon the Court, and left the building, on the occasion of the new incumbent taking his seat, it would have been a well merited rebuke to the appointing power, and we believe they would have been sustained by the voice of the community."

To which the Ministers make the following answer, possibly "By Authority." "Most people would be curious to know what the appointing power by his appointment had 'challenged' these gentlemen to do—what 'action they may choose to take.' How badly the appointing power would feel that He had merited the rebuke of these gentlemen!!!"

In other words that the appointing power has so little respect for the gentlemen of the Bar that no action they could take could injure his feelings. We have learned that upon the occasion of Mr. Widemann's taking his seat, an officer of the court was requested to notify the gentlemen of the Bar of the fact and request their presence, that he did so, and that the gentlemen expressed their displeasure by keeping out of court. The only members of the Bar present being those who were engaged in a case at the time, and the Police Magistrate.

A New Invention.-An inventive Yankee, is an irrepressible character. Take him wherever you may, in Connecticut or in the Sandwich Islands, he is still the same,

"Still achieving, still pursuing, Learns to labor and to wait." Mr. Sam. K. Rawson, of this city, is one of these irrepressible geniuses. He has invented and perfected a machine for turning rounds, ovals, oblongs, or spheriods, with perfect exactness, and of different sizes, from that of a pea, to a billiard ball. It is capable, also, on the same principle, of enlargement indefinitely, so that it may be made applicable to the operations of heavy machinery. The great desideratum of turning billiard balls to a perfect roundness, is here overcome. We were not favored with a sight of the machine, nor, as we understand, will any one else get a look at it, until Mr. Rawson secures his patent right at Washington. We saw however some crater. During the stay, the Duke was the of the billiard balls which he has produced, beautiguest of Captain Thomas Spencer, of whose fully colored, and polished during the operation of turning. I annex a list of those which seemed to me greatly similar. Of course my own knowledge of Hawaiian never was extended was gained wholly by ear, and now has greatly faded from my memory, so that I must ask you to correct the orthography of the Hawaiian words written in my list. I have selected the Malay words from a list comprising those of thirty-three languages, (so stated in Mr. Wallace's work,) meaning, I suppose, the thirty-three various dialects used throughout the entire Archipelago. Many of the Malay words are, in the different languages, entirely dissimilar to those in Hawaiian. I have run over the list and selected

Mysol "Lap," and that of Teto, "Hahi," which last I have used in my list. I would like to hear the subject treated at length by a learned Hawaiian scholar like the Rev. Artemas Bishop, and I think he would clearly prove that a portion at least of the aboriginal Hawaiians descended from the people of the Malay group. Ahi Haud. Lima
